The Center for the Study of Religion and Culture and the Project on Religion and Economy present a public lecture by Katherine Marshall of the World Bank "On Religion, Development, and World Poverty"

Katherine Marshall has worked for over three decades on international development, with a focus on issues for the world's poorest countries, including social policies. She has worked as a senior officer at the World Bank since 1971, and is currently responsible for a broad range of issues revolving around ethics, values, rights and faith in development work. Ms. Marshall previously was director for World Bank programs in East Asia (focus on social policy and governance), Africa, and Latin America. Marshall is a graduate of Wellesley College and the Woodrow Wilson School at Princeton University (MPA '69). She serves on the boards of several NGOs, and most prominently was engaged in the creation and development of the World Faiths Development Dialogue (WFDD).

“The experience of exploring the intersections of the worlds of faith and development is inspirational. The very differences of vocabulary, time frame, and perspective offer us rich insights that we can use for the common good.”

Job Listings

East Nashville Hope Exchange 2005

If you would like to combine your love of children with a summer job opportunity, here's Good News: St. Ann's Episcopal Church seeks applicants to teach children at East Nashville Hope Exchange Summer Program 2005. At EN Hope Exchange, 40 children who have completed kindergarten through 3rd grades participate in the program, and the child to teacher ratio is 10:1. Applicants must be academically strong, dependable, ambitious, energetic, and creative. Strong leadership skills and experience working with children are preferred. We are also seeking applicants who have experience working with ELL students (ELL stands for English Language, which describes students who are learning English as a new language). Applicants with ELL experience will help kindergarten students whose home language is not English. The goal is to help children achieve success both in their ability to use the English language and in their academic coursework.

EN Hope Exchange staff will have two weeks of training (May 31 – June 10). The five-week summer program will be held June 13 – July 15, 7:30 am – 4:00 pm, and weekly Caregiver Empowerment Dinners are held each Tuesday, 6:00 pm – 7:30 pm. Following the program, the staff participates in a week of program assessment and reflection (July 18 – 22). Saturday staff trainings will begin June 14. The summer program will be held May 31 - June 10, hours 7:30 A.M. - 4:00 P.M.

NOTE: Application, résumé and references deadline is March 18, 2005. To apply, please fax or send your application, résumé and references to:
