Subject: Dissertation copyright question

Hello,

We published a chapter in Heart Development and Regeneration, edited by Nadia Rosenthal and Richard Harvey, in 2009 entitled: "An Overview of Avian Heart Structure and Development."

I am writing to obtain permission to include this work in my dissertation thesis. As per Vanderbilt University policy, I am required to microfilm my dissertation through the Pro Quest system, which involves publishing the dissertation. Thus, this would require written approval, as Elsevier holds to copyright of this work. Please let me know how I can obtain this written approval so that I can include this study in my dissertation.

Thanks,
Katherine
