

THE ROBERT PENN WARREN CENTER FOR THE HUMANITIES

is pleased to present

A. Scott Pearson reading from his new novel RUPTURE

Monday, March 23

4:10 p.m.

Seminar room of the Warren Center

Scott Pearson is Assistant Professor of Surgery at Vanderbilt Medical Center, where he combines cancer research with the clinical practice of surgery and teaches the importance of the patient's narrative in medicine. During the 2003-2004 academic year, Dr. Pearson was a fellow in the Warren Center's program "Medicine, Health, and Society." Rupture, a medical thriller, is his first novel.
